

Oronasal thermistor sensor

Production introduction:
Oronasal thermistor sensor is used in multiple channel sleep and respiration monitor. Respiration signal is detected by the thermistor through monitoring the temperature change in the airflow during breathing. The product is comprised of connector, medical cable, splitter comb and thermistor.

Application demonstration

Single-use oronasal thermistor sensor